For the first time, a book series featuring scientific research on the music archaeology of the pre-Columbian Americas is available. Each high-quality bilingual volume (English/Spanish) will include studies on both past and living music traditions from South, Central and North America, and thus encompass all facets of current interdisciplinary research on the topic. The contributions are written by distinguished scholars in the fields of anthropology, cultural history, and musicology, and are peer-reviewed by a general editor and changing co-editors. The series constitutes a platform for the most up-to-date information on the music archaeology of the continent.

Flower World
Music Archaeology of the Americas

Mundo Florido
Arqueomusicología de las Américas

vol. 1

Edited by Matthias Stöckli (Universidad del Valle, Guatemala) and Arnd Adje Both (Chair, ICTM Study Group for Music Archaeology)

With the following contributions:

Ancient Pututus Contextualized: Integrative Archaeo-acoustics at Chavín de Huántar, Peru | Miriam A. Kolar / John W. Rick / Perry R. Cook / Jonathan S. Abel (Stanford University)

Inca Songwork, 1525 | Gary Tomlinson (Yale University)

Los aerófonos de barro del Valle de Sula, Honduras | Teresa M. Campos (Archäologisches Museum San Pedro Sula, Honduras)

Ritual Dance and Music in Ancient Maya Society | Matthew Looper (California State University, Chico)

Sonidos en piedra: El canto, la música y el baile en el Monumento 21 de Bilbao, Cotzumalguapa, Guatemala | Oswaldo Chinchilla Mazariegos (Yale University)

Tunk’ul: Análisis de un instrumento musical maya en contextos rituales durante la Colonia | Juan Carrillo González (CIESAS, Mérida, Mexico)

Cantos de Venado: New Insights into Mexican Indigenous Performance and Composition Practices | Helena Simonett (Vanderbilt University, Nashville)

An Organology of the Americas as Painted by John White and Other Artists | Mark Howell (Winterville Mounds Park and Museum, Greenville, Mississippi)

The Ekho Verlag has been founded in 2012 and is based in Berlin, Germany. To date, this is the only scientific editorial dedicated to music archaeology, a growing interdisciplinary discipline in the intersection between anthropology, archaeology and musicology. The publishing house provides a comprehensive research platform for the most up-to-date literature in this fascinating field. It promotes high-quality studies on musical instruments, sounds, and musical behaviours of all times (including song and dance), with special reference to past human cultures, and the living traditions. The publishing house aims contributing to the awareness of our common musical heritage.

For the first time, a book series featuring scientific research on the music archaeology of the pre-Columbian Americas is available. Each high-quality bilingual volume (English/Spanish) will include studies on both past and living music traditions from South, Central and North America, and thus encompass all facets of current interdisciplinary research on the topic. The contributions are written by distinguished scholars in the fields of anthropology, cultural history, and musicology, and are peer-reviewed by a general editor and changing co-editors. The series constitutes a platform for the most up-to-date information on the music archaeology of the continent.

Flower World
Music Archaeology of the Americas

Mundo Florido
Arqueomusicología de las Américas

vol. 1

Edited by Matthias Stöckli (Universidad del Valle, Guatemala) and Arnd Adje Both (Chair, ICTM Study Group for Music Archaeology)

With the following contributions:

Ancient Pututus Contextualized: Integrative Archaeo-acoustics at Chavín de Huántar, Peru | Miriam A. Kolar / John W. Rick / Perry R. Cook / Jonathan S. Abel (Stanford University)

Inca Songwork, 1525 | Gary Tomlinson (Yale University)

Los aerófonos de barro del Valle de Sula, Honduras | Teresa M. Campos (Archäologisches Museum San Pedro Sula, Honduras)

Ritual Dance and Music in Ancient Maya Society | Matthew Looper (California State University, Chico)

Sonidos en piedra: El canto, la música y el baile en el Monumento 21 de Bilbao, Cotzumalguapa, Guatemala | Oswaldo Chinchilla Mazariegos (Yale University)

Tunk’ul: Análisis de un instrumento musical maya en contextos rituales durante la Colonia | Juan Carrillo González (CIESAS, Mérida, Mexico)

Cantos de Venado: New Insights into Mexican Indigenous Performance and Composition Practices | Helena Simonett (Vanderbilt University, Nashville)

An Organology of the Americas as Painted by John White and Other Artists | Mark Howell (Winterville Mounds Park and Museum, Greenville, Mississippi)